Shepparton

More than a place

Did you know?

... that if you miss seeing this column in the wonderful Shepparton Adviser, you can find copies of previous columns saved onto our website?

These columns touch on a wide range of topics, including things that members of the public often ask us about aged care matters that are on their minds.

The past 12 months have been busy and challenging, with lots of changes happening as a result of a new Aged Care Act being passed by the Australian Parliament.

This Act gives legal force to an important new emphasis on the rights of individuals, the importance of choice and the need for quality at all times in aged care.

There's also a renewed focus on opportunities for older people to stay in their own homes and receive government–backed Support at Home services.

So... if you are interested in our thoughts on these and other important topics over recent months, feel free to take a look on our website, under Latest News: https://sheppvillages.com.au/news/

You also find links there to our social media pages – we're on Facebook, Instagram and Linked In. We're busiest on Facebook but will getting more active on the others in months to come.

On our website you can also find some back issues of my CEO Newsletter to our residents, staff and families – giving an insight into aspects of life at our residential facilities, for anyone curious.

We're up to date with all 2025 back–issues now, and will be adding 2026 content progressively through the year.

More than ever in aged care, I think it's important for all of us to be communicating well – and often.
